

Borah Hopes Rise For Conference

WASHINGTON'S LEADERS KEEP DARK SILENCE

European Nations Expected to Make Representation Soon

WASHINGTON, July 26.—Borah that the United States will take the initiative in calling a world economic conference was expressed today by Senator W. E. Borah, of Idaho, as the administration kept its silence on his proposal.

The studied silence by the government and the imminence of a new year date negotiations at the close of the month of January in December were coupled by some observers as a basis for speculation.

In other words, the European nations are expected to make representations for debt revision when the Dec. 15 payments become due, pointing out that the Lausanne agreement virtually cancelling reparations leaves them less able to pay than when the monetary crisis first put into effect.

Borah's proposition of trade war debts for disarmament and reparations cancellation in the process of world recovery is regarded at the capital as the opening overture.

Borah today asserted he regarded the debt and reparations cancellation elements of any international arrangement to permanent trade reduction.

He also again emphasized his belief that if action was to be taken it must be done quickly.

PEACE FLIRTING WITH BRAZILIANS

RIO DE JANEIRO, July 26.—Reports were current in the capital today that Provisional President Getulio Vargas and a mediator for the Rio Grand section of the southern rebels had agreed to terms of peace.

The report was inspired by the sudden departure by airplane from the capital of Zeno Neves, a former envoy of Rio Grand's "Frente Unica" (United Front), a group rallied with the São Paulo rebels. Neves was believed on route to São Paulo to advise main rebel headquarters there of the plan.

An agreement was supposed to have been reached in the negotiations between the president and Mauricio Cardoso, former Vargas cabinet minister, and the new Rio Grand "Frente Unica" envoy.

CLYDE, N.D., July 26.—Railroad men, with 30,000 members unemployed, is organizing battle lines to oppose the merger of the United States railways into four systems, David G. Robertson, spokesman for 22 railroad labor organizations, said Monday. The statement of a railroad executive, Daniel Willard of the B. & O.—that 80 per cent of the operating expense resulting from the proposed merger would be met by fare reductions in numbers of employees, was cited by Robertson as the reason for labor's opposition.

SASKATOON, July 26.—On the understanding members will put on a determined drive to raise funds to finance their activities. A. J. Macdonald of Winnipeg, accepted re-election as president of the United Farmers of Canada, Saskatchewan section, for a third term today. The session was by acclamation as five other nominees withdrew in Mr. Macdonald's favor.

Meeting in convention here the morning delegates spent the entire day in discussing finances. They were concerned at the fact officials had to pay expenses out of their own pockets to keep the organization alive and determined to remedy this condition.

To vent the infinite situation, each delegate at the convention will be asked to pledge his best effort to raise $10 at once to the central executive. The same action was taken at the last convention and met with a limited success. For every permanent financing of the "triple axe" scheme adopted yesterday had been forthcoming, it was decided to discuss the situation.

Winding up of the association's business funds were forthcoming was discussed today, but repeated as desirable delegate delegates he believed in the possibility of raising money.

As an alternative it was decided to curtail activities if in the autumn sufficient money had not been raised to carry on the present basis.

Left Me Broke," He Says

By Captain J. T. Rendell went a family matter, he can pick out the opening line of that famous hymn "From Greenland's Icy Mountains" to the words of the hymn. "I never made anything out of run-running," he says, "it left me broke."

It was almost inevitable that the captain would turn up in Great Bear Lake in the end, for he has been at every headline event—more or less—since he ran away from home to go to sea. TINY NORTH SETTLEMENT IN BIG TIME

New Chicago Got Name
Because Men Tired of Each Other

One little settlement in the north of the Yukon is in the city on business and with the imposing name of New Chicago, at that—got its start in life because three men who started to winter together, got tired of each other's company long before the spring came.

According to Peter Anderson, New Chicago trapper, who is in the city for a little holiday and is staying at the Lakeside Hotel, the settlement got its name during the days of the gold rush to the Yukon.

Three men from Chicago were caught at tree-top by Peter Good Hope and Arctic Red river and decided to build a cabin right there and stay in it all winter.

POLICE NOW HUNT FOR TREK OF PROBLEMS

Movement From One Province To Another Reduces To Minimum

Movement of unemployed from one province to another likely will be reduced to a minimum as a result of a campaign being taken by the Dominion and the individual provinces to halt the transients. Some of the actions being taken by the Dominion is the Dominion government advocating that a national registration system be adopted in its effort to curb the movement of transients from one province to another. The Dominion government has taken action on this suggestion, it appears as though other jurisdictions will follow suit.

The supposed covering movement of unemployed upon Ottawa while Imperial Oil's operations on has been largely halted as a result of police head hunting the transients at advantageous railway stations.

Police are being sent out to pick up and out of the empty cars.

In the main conference committees on production of commodities, on the control of foreign exchange and on a sub-committee consisting of representatives of Canada and Great Britain appointed to consider and report.

On July 21 Russian dumping broke the British market. Russian wheat exports to Britain have since risen to 1,000,000 bushels. British food of trade returns showed that in the first nine months of 1931 the exports of Russian wheat to Britain were valued at £1,272,000. In the same period 1930 the value of Russian wheat exports to Britain was £1,011,000.

But the problem before the conference is not so much that of the excess, as what may be done to reduce it. It is not that Russia's grain falls under way and Russia reaps the benefit.

The conference committee on wheat has recommended that the United States, Canada, the United Kingdom, the Netherlands, the Empire Marketing Board, the Imperial Economic Conference committee and the League of Nations should place a limit on the quantity of wheat imported in weight and measures will be taken to reduce the surplus.

Thirty-eight countries of the world are now governed by Presi-
